Most frequently used databases (considering both session count and full text retrieval) by library type

The spreadsheet “Database Use by Site 2013-2015 YTD All Sites” provides comprehensive details on database use by site and by library type, and “Top Database Use by Library Type 2013 – 2015 YTD” describes which databases logged high session counts, high full text retrievals, or both, as well as overall session or full text retrieval increases or decreases during the reporting period, January 2013 – April 2015 (the time frame available for accessing reports in EBSCO Admin).

Please note that total database session counts will differ from session counts by site because one session may create duplicate searches across databases. Therefore, the total session count in the database report will be higher than what is reported in the session count by site reports.
