Why do we need a new Cadastral app?

Legacy Cadastral Application

In use since 2012

Old software libraries and security vulnerabilities

Not at all mobile friendly

MSL had been preparing for a change

Users Wanted More

Mobile-friendly

More imagery (e.g., NAIP years)

Better handling of related parcels (e.g., condos)

Better printing options

And many more issues raised over the years

 - Montana State Library Geospatial Knowledge Base - Finding Geocodes in Montana Cadastral

The screenshot shows the Montana Department of Revenue website. The header includes the Montana Department of Revenue logo and navigation links: Home, Taxation, Property, Alcoholic Beverages, Cannabis, Collections, and Re. Below the header is the Business & Income Tax Division logo and navigation links: Individuals, Businesses, Alcohol, Natural Resources, Withholding, and Estates and. The main content area is titled "Property Tax Rebate". A prominent message states: "Important: We are unable to accept the 2022 Montana Property Tax Rebate Claim Form (MT) available on our website starting August 15." Below this message are two buttons: "Apply for the Property Tax Rebate" and "Where is My Rebate?". The text explains that the Property Tax Rebate is a rebate of up to $675 per year of property taxes paid on a principal residence, with a rebate available for property taxes paid for Tax Year 2023. A section titled "Property Tax Rebate Amount" states that the rebate is $675 or an amount not to exceed the property taxes paid on a principal Montana residence for tax year 2023. A light blue box provides an example: "For example, if you paid $425 in property taxes on your principal Montana residence in 2023, you would receive a $425 property tax rebate." Another line of text states: "If you paid $1,200 in property taxes on a principal residence in 2023, you would receive a $675 property tax rebate." At the bottom left, there is a "Translate" button.
